

ABSTRACT

A memo device utilizing a roll of paper that can be fed in opposite directions so that whether the device is used in a horizontal position or in a vertical position, writing can be commenced at the top of the paper adjacent to the open end so that the length of the writing can extend beyond the length of the paper originally extended from the paper roll.

5